

Jamie N. Colombo, D.O.
Assistant Professor, Pediatric Cardiology

Dr. Jamie N. Colombo is a board certified pediatric cardiologist. She completed her pediatric residency training at the University of Arizona and then attended the University of Virginia to pursue a fellowship in cardiology.

She has recently returned home to Arizona to join Banner University Medical Center with specific interests in exercise physiology, fetal echocardiography, and non-invasive imaging. She enjoys spending time with friends and family, traveling whenever she gets the chance, and hiking in the beautiful Tucson desert.
